

Dennis Harrison - Alabama

Dennis Harrison is a registered Professional Engineer in the states of Alabama and Florida. He is also a licensed attorney in the state of Alabama. He received his Bachelor of Civil Engineering degree from Auburn University in 1977 and his Juris Doctor degree from the Jones School of Law of Faulkner University in 1992. In 1977 Dennis began working with Polyengineering, Inc., a consulting engineering firm located in Dothan, Alabama. Dennis became a partner/stockholder at Polyengineering, Inc. before relocating to Montgomery, Alabama in 1989 to attend law school.

Dennis began his career with the Alabama Department of Environmental Management (ADEM) in 1990 working in the Grants Administration Section of the Municipal Branch. In 1993, he was promoted to Chief of the Permits and Compliance Section of the Municipal Branch. In 2001, Dennis transferred to ADEM's Drinking Water Branch where he served as Chief of the Ground Water Source Section until 2005. In 2005, Dennis was promoted to Chief of the Drinking Water Branch. In his current position, Dennis manages the public drinking water program for the state of Alabama. He is also employed on a part time basis as an adjunct law professor and as an instructor in the Academic Success Program at the Jones School of Law. Dennis has over 29 years engineering experience (thirteen as a consultant and sixteen as a state regulator). He also has over 12 years legal and teaching experience.