

Brad Boris - North Carolina

Brad earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology from Bowling Green State University in Ohio. He has North Carolina Grade A-Surface Water Treatment operator certification and North Carolina Grade 1 Physical/Chemical Water Pollution Control System operator certification, as well as North Carolina Process Control Chemistry & Bacteriological analysis certifications

Brad has more than 10 years of service in the municipal drinking water industry. He is currently the Supervisor for the City of Asheville, North Carolina North Fork Water Plant. Prior to coming to Asheville, he served as the Laboratory Manager with the Town of Butner, North Carolina and as the Water Plant Supervisor with the City of Raleigh, North Carolina. Brad also serves as an instructor at the NCAWWA & NCWOA water schools, along with serving on various boards & committees.